

[The manuscript page contains dense, handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from a 16th-century Latin text. The text is written on aged, stained paper and is mostly illegible due to fading and damage. The script is a cursive hand, possibly a form of Italian or Spanish cursive. The text is organized into several paragraphs, with some lines indented. There are some larger, possibly decorative initials or headings, but they are also mostly illegible. The paper shows significant signs of age, including discoloration, stains, and some physical damage at the bottom right corner.]

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from a 16th-century manuscript. The text is written in dark ink on aged, stained, and torn parchment. A small, dark, triangular mark is visible near the center-left.]

*Remedio de Sanag...
... ..*

nit

192/c-323

