Contra

Contra... [The text continues from the previous line, partially obscured by the decorative symbol. It appears to be a continuation of the legal or ecclesiastical text, possibly a signature or a concluding statement.]

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly Latin or Spanish, covering the upper and middle portions of the page. Some words like 'Fueron' and 'de' are faintly visible.]
